About me

Hello! I am Tokhirov Azizillo, a passionate front-end developer with a good basic knowledge of HTML5, CSS3, and JavaScript. I specialize in creating responsive and user-friendly web pages, using tools and frameworks such as Bootstrap, SCSS, and Vue.js.

Currently, I am improving my skills and learning more at the 'Proweb' IT center in Tashkent. This program has helped me to better understand modern web development practices and technologies, preparing me to handle real-world challenges in the industry.

Although I have not yet worked on real projects, I want to use my knowledge and skills in a professional setting. My goal is to achieve success in the IT field and continue to grow as a professional. I am excited to work on innovative projects and collaborate with people who share my passion for technology and development.
